Springboard's Seal of Approval

A Seal of Approval is often defined as, "an official statement or indication that something is accepted or regarded favorably." Candidates and customers with disabilities are looking for ways to have some assurance, that when a company promotes itself as being an employer or supplier of choice for the disability community, there is something "real" behind that promotion.

Springboard's Seal of Approval can serve in part as that assurance by objectively measuring a company's commitment to mainstreaming disability in their workforce, workplace or marketplace.

Based on a points-system, your company will earn points for executed initiatives across seven categories with each initiative measured on its own merit. When awarded, these country-specific seals are valid for one calendar year.

Seal of Approval winners will be recognized at Springboard's 2019 Disability Matters Conference and Awards Gala.
