Delta Holding – Winner of the International Award for Employing Persons With Disability

Feb 20th 2012 12:00PM / Related to Delta Holding

Belgrade, 20 February: The 2012 Disability Matters International Award was given to Serbian company Delta Holding for its programme of professional rehabilitation of persons with disability. This important award will be presented to a Delta Holding representative at the ceremony in Paris on 27 March.

Disability Matters is one of the most important European corporate social responsibility awards that is awarded to companies that are leaders in the provision of support to persons with disability and their families. Delta Holding was nominated for the award by Springboard Consulting, a global expert in the fields of marketing for persons with disability and their families, recruitment and employment of persons with disability and support to employed persons with disability.

The programme of professional rehabilitation of persons with disability within Delta Holding was launched on 1 October 2008. The motive for launching the programme was the maximum labour and social inclusion of persons with disability who have been long isolated from the general social community and without any work experience. The programme included training, labour and social inclusion programme and employment of persons with disability within the corporation. To date, 207 persons with disability have been employed by Delta Holding. Our colleagues with disability are employed in different positions in Delta Holding member companies in accordance with their qualifications.

Delta Holding will continue its programme for the rehabilitation of persons with disability and this social group remains to be in the focus of the Company's corporate social responsibility.
